Testimony In Support of SB 61
Human Trafficking
Presented to the House Corrections and Juvenile Justice Committee
By Sarah Robinson, Wichita Children’s Home
March 7, 2013

Thank you members of the House Corrections and Juvenile Justice Committee for allowing me to speak to you in favor of SB 61. The Wichita Children’s Home is a 125 yr old child and family serving agency. We offer a shelter for law enforcement admissions and homeless and runaway youth, a mobile street outreach program that staffs the local SafePlace program, a transitional living program for 17 to 22 year olds, a resource center for runaway and homeless youth, and a program funded by the Office of Violence against Women to provide services for 13 to 24 year old homeless and runaways who are victims of sexual assault. We see about 5,000 children and youth year. We see the sexually exploited youth come in our shelter, call our crisis line, pop in our drop in center and live in our transitional living programs. Unfortunately, because many highways come together in Wichita, our community is known as an originating site for the trafficking world. This crime is not a new situation, we have seen youth who are victims of the commercial sexual exploitation for many years. They move in and out of programs because their needs are so difficult to address. Sadly, they run from placements and take other girls resulting in more victims. We have been fortunate to work with other parties devoted to the care of these victims as a member of the Anti-Sexual Exploitation Roundtable for Community Action (ASERCA) founded by Dr. Karen Countryman Roswurm in 2006. Under an administrative order, ASERCA serves as the Multi Disciplinary Team to staff this population under Karen’s clinical direction.

What has changed is the public awareness of the victimization of youth. In addition, our ability to care for these youth is improving due to our greater understanding of trauma and the complex needs of these youth. The first step in caring for them is to provide immediate safety, medical care, multi level assessment and comfort. They might be scared that their pimp is out there waiting for them. They might be so emotionally paralyzed that they are afraid to reconnect with their family. They might be pregnant by their john. The commitment of DCF to rapid response is exactly what needs to occur. The youth need access to a staff secure setting, at least during their assessment, so they can be stabilized and not runaway endangering themselves and others. Next they need to reinvent themselves, moving from powerless to powerful. The may travel an emotional roller coaster during this transformation. So they may need to stay in the staff secure setting for a longer time in order to receive the care that they deserve. A staff secure setting will provide many opportunities for them to develop relationships with staff and mentors, attend therapy, focus on recovery, receive treatment for their medical problems, attend school and develop a support system in the community. They deserve comprehensive treatment so they can reinvent themselves.

There are wonderful child serving programs in the Kansas who are eager and highly capable of helping these youth reinvent themselves. They need the funding to provide separate services for these victims that are staff secure, intentional, relational, and rich in services.

Let’s increase the penalties for these evil doers in an effort to decrease the number of them and in order to improve services to the youth exploited by them.

Thank you for your consideration and for your commitment to Kansas citizens.
A total of 1059 children were admitted for residential care during this period. Law Enforcement placed 901 children for protective custody; of these admissions, 183 were taken into the custody of the state. Contractors placed 136 children with us. Parents voluntarily admitted 22 children into the Home's family preservation programs.
