Background

The House Committee on Education introduced this bill as a continuation, in perpetuity, of fund flexibility first put into place for the 2011-12 school year. Proponents of the bill included representatives of the Kansas Association of School Boards, Kansas Policy Institute, and United School Administrators of Kansas. A representative of the Wichita School District presented neutral testimony. There were no opponents.

The House Committee amended the bill by removing a requirement that 65 percent of the aggregate of all unencumbered balances authorized to be expended by the bill be spent in the classroom or for instruction. Instead, the Committee added a statement indicating the 65 percent was a “public policy goal.”

Proponents at the Senate Committee hearing included representatives of the Kansas Association of School Boards, the Kansas Policy Institute, and the United School Administrators of Kansas. No neutral or opposing testimony was received.

The Senate Committee amended the bill by requiring the school district superintendent’s report on unencumbered balances be sent to the State Board of Education.

The fiscal note by the the Division of the Budget, on the bill as introduced, stated enactment of the bill would have no effect on state aid payments to school districts.
