

2020 Kansas Statutes

75-132. Transition in office of governor; incoming governor, defined. As used in this act "incoming governor" means the person who is the apparent successful candidate for the office of governor, as ascertained by the secretary of state following the general election for such office. The secretary of state shall make such determination on the day next following such election or as soon thereafter as such fact can be ascertained.

History: L. 1980, ch. 277, § 1; July 1.